CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO HEAR PETER DAMBORG THURSDAY EVENING, SEPT. 14

On Thursday evening, Sept. 14, the president of the Maine Publicity Bureau, Peter M. Damborg, will be the guest speaker at the first fall meeting of the Greater Bethel Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Damborg is expected to discuss activities and plans of the Maine Publicity Bureau. The meeting will be held in the Sudbury Inn following a social hour and buffet dinner.

Local members have raised three areas of concern which are expected to come up in the question and answer period. These questions are: (1) what is the Bureau doing to promote this area of Maine including its ski season attractions? (2) what plans exist to provide a Route 2 information booth in the Bethel area? and (3) what benefits can individual businesses expect to receive by joining the Bureau?

The meeting was arranged for the purpose of benefiting the Chamber's members by allowing them to get first hand answers to several common questions. Also, due to the impact of Route 2 traffic on the Rumford and Norway-South Paris areas, an invitation is extended to anyone in those areas who is interested in attending and hearing Mr. Damborg.

The film "A White Heron" based on Sarah Orne Jewett's short story will be shown. This film portrays the conflict of values and emotions on a small town Maine girl named Sylvia who is encouraged by an outsider to reveal the nesting area of a white heron so that he may shoot it for his specimen collection. A public discussion of the ways that outside influences have affected Bethel will follow the film. Anyone interested in attending this meeting is cordially invited to do so.

Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres.

For several days now we have had cool nights and cool dawns. As day is born, the land and its growing things respond to it. At first the delicate color arises, a pale pink, like fine gauze across the skyland, then shades of gold herald its coming. Soon it arcs bold and bright, a glow with benign sunshine over the tree lines and increases the temperature of the day.

All across the ponds towering columns of pale mist rises into the air. It expands, merges, draws apart, joins together into one shimmering cloud, and finally withdraws. Behind this process all the landscape wavers as though seen through dancing heat waves. Soon the ponds reflect the clear sky above.

What happened to summer? Could you really say?

Didn't it just sprout wings and quietly fly away?

A few weeks ago the brooks ran full and sang gayly as they welcomed summer. Now the wheel of time has turned on its rim a quarter cycle and with so little rain the waters move languidly or not at all among the rocks and roots.

I followed an old rutted path to the uplands looking for blackberries. I twisted and turned with the path as it wound through spruces and hemlocks until I came to the cutting covered with bushes.

One doesn't just wade carelessly into this tangled jungle of strong, prickly canes. The bushes are tough; they are covered with sharp needle-pointed briars that command respect.

Wild raspberries and blackberries are part of nature's healing touch. When the land is first cut over, the gashed stumps and dead limb slash are unsightly and a desolate scene. Then grow the ferns, grasses and canes of the berry bushes. At this time it's a real challenge to get into the place. Every step was taken cautiously for I didn't want to find myself down on a bed of prickly canes. I went once alone but the second time my sister-in-law tried her skill. In spite of the spines it's satisfying work. The berries are the motive, but there's peaceful solitude and beauty also. To be sure, there are hazards connected with the work, but the reward is in keeping.

Today September came and August waved adieu. It turned, smiled, and scurried from our view. September, with the opening of school.

"Vacation time is over, and the day is here at last. When we see that youthful army as it goes marching past, and we hear those tender voices as they call from everywhere—'Hurry up, the bell is ringing, not a minute now to spare.'"

STATE OF MAINE

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Karen L. Brown

Sept. 1, 1978
An official proclamation has been issued by Governor James B. Longley calling for a special legislative session to begin on Sept. 6. The principal agenda will include a proposed constitutional amendment to limit the rate of growth in government spending.

All changes in our constitution must originate with the Legislature and be approved by the voters at a regularly scheduled general election. The Governor has called a Special Session of the Legislature at this time so that on Nov. 7 the voters may have the chance to consider a constitutional amendment to limit government spending. If the Legislature postponed any consideration of this issue until the 109th Legislature convenes in January, the voters would not be able to consider any constitutional spending limits until November 1980.

In preparing for the Special Session this week I attended three days of Public Hearings and Work Sessions in Augusta. Five different bills were presented at these hearings, but the focus of discussion was on the Maine Tax-Limitation Committee's proposal which has been endorsed by Governor Longley.

Essentially this amendment to the Maine Constitution would place limitations on future spending for all units of government, including cities, towns, plantations and school districts. A spending limitation will control state and local budgets and will encourage the establishment of priorities among existing and new programs.

Unlike the so-called Proposition 13 Amendment in California, it is not directed solely at the property tax and is not specifically designed to cut existing taxes. The proposed amendment will establish a limit on government spending beyond which no expenditures can be made without voter approval. A limitation on spending would naturally result in a limitation on future tax increases.

It is important to note that this amendment would not represent any change in the local government process for the communities in this district. Town meetings and school district meetings give the individual taxpayer the opportunity to review local budget and spending proposals prior to enactment. This would not change in any way under the Maine Tax-Limitation Committee's proposed amendment. In fact, this amendment would give you, as voters, the opportunity to review most changes in state spending prior to enactment and before those changes result in increased taxation.

During the regular legislative session in January, proposals dealing with tax reform, tax exemptions, tax credits and tax cuts will be considered. Tax reform deals with trying to achieve a fair determination of who pays what taxes without regard to the overall level of taxation. Tax limitation deals with a limit upon government spending.

Labor Day week end has come and gone. Now we think about school and buttoning up for the winter. Frank and I went through thirteen mile woods and then up through to Rangeley. For miles they had put on new hot-top and we would drive through the woods without meeting another car. I said to Frank that it was almost like Newfoundland as they had a nice road put in from coast to coast and you could go for miles without meeting another car. So many of the trees had changed to their fall colors that it doesn't seem like they would last until October. The sky was a beautiful blue sprinkled with fluffy white clouds. Places where the clouds hung suspended over the mountains they would have a dark shadow in contrast to the lighter areas where the sun shone through. It was a beautiful day to ride, neither too hot or cold. We stopped in Rangeley and ate at the Red Onion. We came back through Farmington and Rumford. It was nice to get away from home for a few hours, but am still content to watch the change of seasons down here by the river.

Friday, my brother John Allen and Dena Aslainen, both of San Francisco came for a corn feast. Dena was telling that in the country she lived in before coming to the U. S. they have no popcorn, ice cream, etc., vendors. The vendors there either have corn on the cob still in the husk, steamed beets or some other vegetable. My folks Mr. and Mrs. George Allen also came.

Our boys were disappointed because George was going to take the bus from Virginia to South Carolina but had to stay on ship because of Hurricane Ella. The boys could only leave the base in South Carolina over the week end on special passes for the same reason. Apparently it never did as much damage on land just kept people confused as to where she was going.

Education isn't play and it can't be made to look like play. It is hard, hard work, but it can be made interesting work.

Decision for Newlyweds
Congratulations! You're engaged to be married. Decision time is coming. Shall the first den of your dreams be a cozy apartment or a comfortable home, large enough to house your projected number of off-springs?

Stop and reflect these alternatives. Apartment rents are climbing as available space lessens. On top of this, the monthly rent checks represent money that is gone forever. On the other hand, mortgage payments are a form of forced savings and actually build an equity for you. Also you can probably look forward to a profit when you eventually sell.

One other consideration is the cost of household moves each time you staircase to larger quarters. This expense could conceivably cost you every penny you thought you were saving by paying less for smaller quarters.

Either way you decided — have a happy honeymoon!

Eveline Barrett, Corres.

Another long holiday week end. Many campers and children are departing our good ole State of Maine and much traffic will be on our roads. The large yellow buses will start Sept. 5 as our schools begin another year.

Eveline Barrett was at Norway hospital Monday for out patient treatment. The "Doc" said no more jogging.

Herbert Stevens is having his house insulated.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lyons have purchased the Wheeler house and had the septic tank pumped out. Will start repairs soon. They are from South Portland.

Eveline Barrett's sister, Alice Goff, Rumford, went by ambulance to St. Mary's Hospital Tuesday to the bone doctor. He put her fractured knee in a cast and she returned to Rumford hospital. She went home Sept. 1. She tries walking a bit with her walker.

Betty Haggerty, South Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Enman, Rumford Point, Wade Rainey and boys, Fay, Karen Eastman, Dorothy Smith, were callers at Barrett's; also Roberta Tripp, Lewiston.

Many compliments were received on the lovely supper August 26. As we met people from away they were anxious to hear if we planned another supper soon. This will be discussed at our September 6 meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Taylor and five sons, moved back to their home here Saturday evening, just in time for the school opening. Welcome home. I hope Mrs. Taylor's health is improved.

Joe and Laura Kalinowski were hosts to their annual "Hootenanny" Sept. 3 at Big Rock. A bountiful buffet supper was served at 6 o'clock with tables inside the work shop and on the large lawn. Many musical instruments were tuned up for the contra dancing with Bob Wilcox, Portland, Conn., as the caller. Many jokes were told, singing and a general good time. Mrs. Frechette, Mellic Dunham's granddaughter of Norway was unable to attend and we were all sorry. The youngsters all strut their stuff. Guests were Chester and Louise Sanborn, Marge Chambrillo, Bob and Ethel Wilcox, Maynard and Helen Emery, Eveline Barrett, Root and Doris Lawrence.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of my wife, May E. Cymrot, who died on Sept. 7, 1975. Loving memories never die, as the years roll on and the days pass by. In our hearts a vigil is kept, for you whom we loved, and whom we can never forget.

Words alone cannot express the deep sense of our loss, and the total void it left in the lives of so many whose paths you crossed. To be together in the same old way, if only fleetingly, would be the most cherished blessing of this, the saddest of days.

Rest in Eternal Peace and Divine Grace.

WEST BETHEL UNION CHURCH NEWS

Stanley Jones, who attended the Word of Life Bible Institute, Potteryville, N. Y., will be teaching the Adult Bible Class at 9 a. m. on Sunday mornings at the West Bethel Union Church, using the Living Today, Adults Magazine study materials. Everyone is invited to join the group for a study of the gospel of Luke.

On July 29, the church basement project got underway with several men from the church giving of their time to get the floor ready for the cement to be poured and the walls ready for the carpenters. The first week in August the carpenters arrived and started working on the basement. The carpenters finished their work and there is now a beautiful nursery room where children up to three years old stay during church services, and a big room where Sunday School, Junior Church, Bible Studies, Adult Bible Class, and Fellowship Suppers may be held. All that remains to be done is cleaning up in preparation for the painting of the walls and floors.

UMO'S TESTING LABORATORY DIAGNOSES SOIL PROBLEMS

Is your lawn a disaster area? Have your fruit trees suddenly developed an unhealthy look? The University of Maine at Orono's Soil Testing Laboratory will diagnose your problem and recommend the antidote.

The lab is probably one of the better known services of the Orono campus if the 15,000 soil samples that annually come into Deering Hall office are a criteria. At least half of those samples, incidentally, arrive in early spring.

The primary purpose of the laboratory is evaluation of the soil for fertility to grow a domestic plant, and users range from farmers to the homeowner with a lawn and small area for flowers and vegetables. The problems are usually associated with the proper use of fertilizer, but sometimes they are caused by special problems.

One homeowner suddenly had an area develop on his lawn where nothing would grow. A soil test discovered that water from his metal, zinc coated roof was draining into the area, a problem of zinc poisoning which could be corrected by adjusting the pH (lime level).

Another householder applied for help when he started losing his apple trees and the problem was

— Miss Amy Hanscom, Corres. —
 Traffic started using the new bridge at Wight Brook Wednesday, Aug. 30 and the old bridge was removed Thursday. There is still considerable work to be done before the project is finished.

The new bridge replaces a span which was built in 1925. This bridge, on a turn, and too narrow for today's heavy traffic, has been the scene of several accidents.

The new structure is located downstream from the old bridge, eliminating the curve and lessens the grade heading north. It is expected the project will be completed in about a month.

The selectmen met Thursday evening, Aug. 31, with the Planning Board and Robert Jamison of the Androscoggin Valley Regional Planning Commission, to review the application of Roger Wheeler for a building permit and to discuss the need for a local zoning ordinance. The group first met with Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler at the site of their proposed building. The permit had originally been denied as the site might be in the flood area. After viewing the site the group adjourned to the home of selectman Willard Wight, where it was voted to grant the permit. A zoning ordinance was then discussed. Some members apparently felt that the town should be zoned to prevent any building within 250 feet of a brook or river. Mr. Jamison will work with the planning board, draw up an ordinance to be presented to the voters at a special town meeting. It was planned to hold a public hearing before this meeting was called, to give citizens a chance to express their views on the matter. Attending the meeting were Mr. Jamison, selectmen Roger Hanscom, Willard Wight and Stephen Wight and planning board members Paul Wight, Philip Korhonen, Robert Lowell, Barbara Yates, David Fleet and Warren Dennis. Mr. Wheeler met at the site with the group.

Robert Parslow, Dayton, and Matthew Wight assisted Pastor Hanscom with the service. The Newry Community Church sang "Have You Seen Jesus My Lord," and Kathy Hanscom, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Glover, Anita Parslow and Nancy Hanscom sang "An Evening Prayer." The church has been invited to attend special services at the Faith Bible Church at Rumford Corner Sept. 9 at 7 p. m., with Rev. Carl Stevens as guest speaker.

Reginald and Heidi Bachelder were guests of honor at their home Sunday. Attending besides the honored guests were Karlene Bachelder, Brent and Aaron, Brian and Traci, O'Donnell, family, Cumberland and Kathy Bowers, South Paris. Mrs. Karlene Bachelder made and decorated two birthday cakes. The party was in traced to detergent overflowing from his neighbor's faulty septic tank.

Dr. Rollin Glenn, a professor of plant and soil sciences and director of the laboratory, says that if the problem is not related to the soil it is sent on to the appropriate area for diagnosis. Glenn is assisted by one full-time technician, augmented in the peak months in spring by three assistants.

The laboratory is part of UMO's Cooperative Extension Service activities and information on how to gather a soil sample and a box for mailing may be obtained from county Extension offices or from 115 Deering Hall. A fee of $1 is charged for the service and there is no extra charge if the problem requires more extensive consulting service.

Glenn said he recommended that anyone planning to plant anything from lawn to grapevines, have the soil tested, preferably in the fall when the need for an answer is not immediate, he added. Almost half the requests reach the lab in the spring, placing a strain on the facilities.

AREA COMMUNITY EDUCATION COUNCIL TO MEET SEPT. 13

The Bethel Area Community Education Work Council will hold its monthly meeting of the Board of Directors on Wednesday, Sept. 13, at 7:30 p. m. in the library of Telstar High School.

All interested citizens and Council members are urged to attend.

Upton

— Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres. —
 Labor Day week end comes earlier each day. This year it arrived as soon as summer got off to a good start.

Margaret Mitchell is spending a week at her home here.

The planning board and selectmen met at the home of Fred Judkins, Bob Dapalito and Mr. Mitchell of Nashua were present as Mr. Dapalito had sold a lot to Barbara Wolverson and had had a earlier home moved without a permit or septic tank installed. The matter will be checked further at a meeting Sept. 11 with a state representative present.

A service was conducted in the church Saturday evening by Dale Thurston followed by a lunch and business meeting at the Ladies' Aid building. The residents were poorly represented but because of some ground work done by the Heywoods during the summer and by others over the year, some favorable changes were made. Earlier restrictions were rescinded making the use of the building free to any Judeo-Christian Groups as available and as long as these groups or individuals clean the building and are responsible for utilities they use—the position of co-ordinator was reduced to one person as the job requires only to prevent confusion of two groups wanting the building at the same time.

Discussion of repairs needed and money available resulted in satisfaction to the building committee. He was assured he could get the roof painted and other jobs done to some extent. This in spite of some confusion in the treasurer's report.

Officers elected were: moderator, Ray Chittum; Ass't, Bill Harris; treasurer, Frank Tucker; clerk, Leslie Aron; trustee, five years, Merna Allen; trustee to fill vacancy, three years, Larry Wade; fund raiser, Arline Bernier; co-ordinator, Marilyn Brenner.

Anita Harris offered to janitor building during August 1979.

Arline Bernier asked if there was any objection to films being shown and popcorn or snacks available. Some questions were asked but since no objections were presented, we will pursue the project if enough interest and donations are received. Feel free to come in to look over catalogs, ask questions or offer advice if you are interested in this and sick of what theaters offer.

Mr. Wuori of Andover was present and offered to hold one service next year and to look around for other pastors. This is for the Saturday night services.

Virginia Williamson went to Veazie over the week end to visit her son who is recuperating from a skidder accident.

Ladies' Aid will hold a meeting Friday afternoon at the building. We will discuss plans for future policy. Non-members are invited to attend.

Most of the camps were full during the Labor Day week end. Floyd Shirley and Mica Staples were in town visiting with friends and relatives in the area. Katherine Wight and Larry Enman of Errol called on them Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bernier, Flossie Bernier and children, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Pierce, Laurie Bergeron, Annie Atwood, were among the week end guests at the Bernier household.

The Community Club meeting scheduled is postponed.

A Century Ago

— From The Oxford Democrat —

September 3, 1878

Bethel—Hon. E. W. Woodbury addressed the citizens at Bean's Corner Friday evening on the financial issues of the day. Mr. Woodbury spoke for about an hour and a half and his son Wesley followed. Both gentlemen held the individual attention of all present. We learn only one Greenbacker resides in that part of the town, he being present gave a respectful hearing to the question. Wesley K. is a live young man and spoke to the point.

Mr. W. P. Frye addressed a large audience at Pattee's Hall Thursday evening. His able and eloquent defense of the honor of the Government now being assaulted upon its credit was listened to with the greatest attention by both parties who gave good evidence of their sympathy to honest currency. Our Greenbackers do not relish this hard truth.

Bethel—The buildings of Samuel D. Philbrook, of Bethel, were discovered on fire about eleven o'clock Sunday night and were a total loss. Two horses, two cows, seven hogs, two carriages, five harnesses, about sixty tons of hay, together with much of the household goods, and the winter clothing of the family, and bedding were burned. The family were awakened by Mr. Skillings, the hired man, who was awakened by the smoke in his room, which nearly suffocated him. He lost his trunk with all his clothing. The cause of the fire is unknown, as the barn was all enveloped in flames when discovered, and there had been no light in it since Friday night. A general conflagration was imminent at one time, and was only prevented by the use of engines, which were worked vigorously by the citizens. Mr. Philbrook was absent from home, in Vermont. Loss from $6,000 to $7,000. Buildings, stock, hay and grain, carriages were insured in the Hartford (Freeland Howe Agent), $1,500 on house, $1,500 on barn, $500 on hay, $500 on stock and $200 on carriages and harnesses. The furniture was insured in the Continental (Wm. J. Wheeler Agent). In answer to a telegram, Mr. Philbrook came home Monday, and with his characteristic energy, commenced to remove the debris, and has a crew of men preparing the foundation for the erection of new buildings. SCHOOL'S OPEN DRIVE CAREFULLY, ASKS AAA

Oh no? I didn't see her. I just didn't see her."

Eric S. Baxter, Public Relations Director of AAA-Maine Automobile Association, introducing the Association's annual School's Open Drive Carefully Traffic Safety Campaign, pointed out that these few sad words often reveal the tragedy of a child pedestrian accident.

"The most common child action leading to a potential accident situation has been identified as a 'dart out', or the sudden appearance of a person in the path of a moving vehicle," explained Baxter. Shrubbery, a parked car, or some similar obstruction can completely block the view of a driver until a dart out child is directly in front of his or her vehicle."

The AAA spokesman pointed out that under such circumstances, motorists have a big responsibility, and extreme caution should be exercised when youngsters are present along the roadway, especially in residential areas and school zones.

Baxter concluded by stating that the first few weeks of school are a particularly hazardous period, specifically for newcomers who may be walking without supervision for the first time. Therefore AAA urges all motorists to drive with special care now that school is open again.

S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A. CHAPTER IN NORWAY-SO. PARIS MARKING SECOND ANNIVERSARY

The Norway-South Paris Chapter for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc. (S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A.) is celebrating its second anniversary during the month of September. A special program for those interested in barber shop harmony will be held on Sept. 14 at 7:30 p. m. at the Second Congregational Church, Norway. "Men of all ages and interests are invited to learn more about our chapter and to join in some fellowship," says Hial P. Snell, membership vice-president. "You don't have to be an expert singer or even know how to read music. But you must enjoy the fun and fellowship that comes from singing."

The local chapter is one of 750 which is engaged in the perpetuation of barber shop singing, the nation's oldest song style. Dating back to the mid-1800's, it is one of just a handful of truly American forms of music.
